

Visual literacy overview

from I See What You Mean by Steve Moline (2011 edition)

These are the most useful visual texts for writing information.

Simple diagrams, Analytic diagrams and Graphs support explanations, reports, recounts, arguments, discussions, and instructions.

You can also use Process and Structure diagrams for summarizing what you read, and planning what to write.

